

Golden Age

II.

Said Master the three ways¹ to accomplish His work and bless:
Firstly, someone to develop and bless him the independent way;
Secondly, to take under care, guide and stress;
Thirdly, to sit inside, like to dwell in flesh.³
Even in both cases the link is ever fresh.

The third one guides and transmits the order of the Lord.
Doesn't he do that, his contact gets discarded.
He is bound, since he is a borrowed servant of Him,
blessed by Master's wisdom, forgets he the intellect and whim.

Accepting His commandments never bows and falls,
Leaves the Iron, merges into Gold⁴, for Him he recalls,
Kirpal, I learn my given lesson and You are my subject,
People may know, criticize or may suspect.

With heart and ear He binds His⁵ child to stand,
Keeps His control in his finger-tips of His hand.⁶
Keeps him above the poisonous effect of night and day,
Blesses the child, never to change the view and way.

Sends now He some of His beloved child,⁷
His power extends now far, vast, and wide.
Would they control many, would no one control them,
Console they would all, would no one console them.

Knocks the door⁸ and delivers His love,
Awake, open, and see who stands before and above!
This is the way of Grace of my Beloved Kirpal,
All exists in Him and He exists in all.

1,2,3 Master while in Dera Dun told, that Master can continue His work in any of the three ways: Firstly, He can prepare someone and take the work; secondly, He can guide someone and take the work; or thirdly, He can sit within the disciple and take the work. Master said, the third way is the most beautiful and effective one.

4 This relates to the Golden Age. On 3rd Age 1974 in Dehra Dun, Master said, 'Be aware that the Golden Age is coming. No one will be spared, everyone has to go back. Those who disobey the Master will have to travel a very long road for the completion of their journey.'

Golden, Silver and Copper Age are the preparatory ages for the soul to come back again in the Iron Age.

The Golden Age is too difficult to overcome, if we do not obey and surrender unto Him.

5 This also relates to the Golden Age. As there is no guidance in the Golden Age, Master keeps the connection of the disciple's heart with His ear, means, He feels and listens to the child always.

6 He keeps the control of the child in the finger-tips of His hand, means He will not allow His child to move away from the path and change his view.

Whom he directed to serve selflessly and who helps Him to bring the Mission into the Golden Age. Note: In the Golden Age the work of the Master nearly finishes and reduces to very few, purest souls who may withstand completely and positively with Truth, Penance, Compassion and Charity.

8 He can knock the door: He reminds you alone of your contact with Master.
